

MILITARY SHOW FOR CATTLEMEN; WANT ENTERTAINMENTS FOR WEEK

Committee Meets to Arrange for Program Next Week;
Gen. Pershing Promises Military Maneuvers at Fort;
Cattlemen's Cabaret at the Banquet; Will Be
Auto Ride Over City For All Visitors.

WHILE the committee in charge of the American National Livestock association were holding a conference Monday afternoon in the directors' room of the First National bank, Gen. J. J. Pershing telephoned that all was in readiness for the military maneuvers and tactics to be held on the afternoon of January 25 at Fort Bliss and staged for the special benefit of the convention visitors.

Autos for All.
The committee on automobiles, who will have the task of making the drive on the afternoon of Wednesday a success, that drive culminating with the military review by members of the respective regiments stationed in El Paso, reported an excellent progress in the matter of volunteer automobiles which will be used for entertaining the visitors on this date. Fifty automobile owners pledged themselves to send their cars. The committee expect to have 150 machines by the day of the military maneuvers.

Plenty of Music.
James G. McNary, chairman of the music committee, reported that he had secured the services and cooperation of four bands and two orchestras. The concert on Tuesday morning will be by the Sixth Infantry band; the concert on Tuesday evening will be by the Tenth Infantry band; the concert on Wednesday morning by the El Paso Municipal band, and the band concert on Thursday morning by the Eighth Cavalry band. The music for the Monday night banquet to the executive committee and officers of the national association will be furnished by the Van Surdam orchestra, while the music for the ball on Wednesday night, January 25, will be by the McCracken orchestra. Special music and stunts will be provided by the entertainment committee for the banquet on Monday evening.

70 from New Mexico.
J. F. Primm stated to the committee that he had been in Silver City and Deming recently and was confident that between 50 and 70 cattlemen and their families would be in El Paso for the convention. He said that he was confident that similar numbers could be expected from other cattle sections.

R. M. Dudley announced that the Juarez Jockey club had set aside 15

Northern Arizona Cattle- men Expect Best Year in History of Business.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 18.—Northern Arizona cattlemen are looking forward to the most prosperous season in the history of that section, says Charles K. How, chairman of the state livestock association, at Prescott.

A great many reports have reached Phoenix that cattle were dying in the heavy snows which still cover the north. However, "it is true that a few will be lost because of their inability to travel through the snow to places where browse is to be had, but the losses will be far more than offset by the gains. The snow insures that feed and water will be more abundant on the ranges next summer than for many years."

Aside from the standpoint of attendance, the Prescott convention was a great success, says How. Last year about 350 cattlemen attended the convention at Prescott, but only a few more than 100 went to Prescott. Reports of the heavy snows were partly responsible for the small attendance from the southern counties, Cochise, Yuma, Pima and Graham and Greenlee counties had practically no representation.

S. H. Cowan, attorney of the association.

CITY TO BE DECORATED FOR CATTLEMEN NEXT WEEK

Both the city hall and the dome of the courthouse will be decorated in honor of the National Livestock association, which meets in El Paso on January 25 and 26 and 27. The award for decorating the courthouse dome was made several weeks ago by the county commissioners, while the decorations for the city hall were ordered Monday by city clerk Jack Dawson. Red, white and blue adorn the municipal building and will be used in the decorations of the city hall and the dome of the courthouse. In addition to the public buildings, all of the stores in the downtown district will have special ornamentation. Flags are to be flown from all the staffs in the city and from the poles that hang over the main thoroughfares. Some special efforts will be directed into illumination of buildings and the committee for the convention is expected to report on the decorations in a few days.

"The Frame-Up"

SIXTH OF THE NEW STORIES
By RICHARD HARDING DAVIS
In Which Is Told the Story of a New York Attorney's Fight Against "the System" That Controls Politics and Steps at Nothing to "Get" the Man It Cannot Control; a Thrilling Narrative.

WHEN an automobile sign told him he was "10 miles from Columbus Circle," he felt that from the New York he knew he was much farther. Two miles up the road his car overhauled a bicycle policeman, and Wharton halted him.

"Where a road sign called Kessler's beyond here?" he asked.

"On the left, farther up," the officer told him, and added, "you can't see it. Mr. Wharton, there's no other house near it."

"You know me," said the D. A. "Then you'll understand what the house stood for. I've agreed to go to that house alone. If they see you pass they may think I'm not playing fair. So stop here."

The man nodded and disappeared. "But," added the district attorney, as the car started forward again, "if you hear shots I don't care how fast you come."

The officer grinned. "Better let me trail along now," he called. "That's the best way."

But Wharton motioned him back, and when again he turned to look the man still stood where they had parted.

Two minutes later an empty taxi cab came swiftly toward him and as it passed the driver lifted his hand motioned behind him and called out:

"That's one of the men," said Nolan, "that started with Mr. Rumson and Hewitt from Delmonico's."

Wharton nodded and now assured that in their plan there had been no hitch, smiled with satisfaction. A moment later, when the taxi was on the asphalt road, Nolan pointed out a spot of yellow, he recognized the signal and knew that within call were friends.

The yellow cigarette box lay directly in front of a long, wooden building of two stories. It was linked to the road by a curving driveway, and on either side by whitewashed stones. On verandas enclosed in glass Wharton saw white-clothed under red candle shades, and protruding from one end of the house hung with electric lights in paper lanterns, a pavilion for dancing. In the center of the veranda and a thick tangle of trees on which the autumn leaves showed yellow. Painted fingers and arrows pointing in every direction, Wharton claimed to all who passed that this was Kessler's. In spite of its reputation, the house wore the aspect of the commonplace. In evidence nothing flamed, nothing threatened. From a dozen other inns along the Pelham parkway to the Bodley Park road it was no way to be distinguished.

As directed in the note, Wharton left the car in the road. "For five minutes," he said, "I'll be on the ground. Then go to the bar and get a drink. Don't talk to any one or they'll think you're trying to get information. Stand where I can see you from the window. I may want you to carry a message to Mr. Rumson."

On foot Wharton walked up the curving driveway, and if from the car his approach was spied upon, there was no evidence. In the second story the blinds were drawn and on the first floor the veranda was empty. Nor, not even after he had mounted to the veranda and stepped inside the house, was there any sign that his visit was expected. He stood in a hall, and in front of him rose a broad flight of stairs that he guessed led to the private supper room. On his left was the restaurant.

Swept and garnished after the reveal of the night previous, and as though resting in great peace, those to come, it wore an air of peaceful inactivity. At a table d'hôte were composing the menu for the evening, against the wall three colored waiters lounged sleepily on a platform at a piano a pale youth with drugged eyes played a waltz, and a woman with a pair of white gloves picked an accompaniment. As Wharton paused uncertainly the young man, dislodged by an audience, in a shrill, nasal tone raised

Believe Boyhood Injury Re- sponsible for Plot to Murder His Father.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 18.—Insanity resulting from a boyhood injury caused Irving Updike to plot to murder his father, Forman Updike, a millionaire retired broker, his mother and sister, according to a statement issued by the parents.

Irving, 32 years old, and brother Herman were taken into custody by the police at Oak Park, a suburb in which the Updikes reside, after a stenographic copy of the alleged plot had been taken from a statement issued by the Updike garage.

The statement issued by Mr. and Mrs. Updike said that Irving received an injury to his spine during his school days and since has shown many signs of mental unbalance. His family has no doubt, the statement ran, that "this plot was the sole result of his mental condition."

"His brother Herbert," the statement continues, "was not a guilty accomplice, but became an apparent accessory for the purpose of disclosing the plot."

John H. Updike, an older brother, who was summoned to court by a letter from Herbert, said that Irving had planned to kill his parents.

"I hurried home and communicated with a detective agency and we arranged to discover and reveal the plot."

Chief Lee of the Oak Park police said he would hold Irving on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, and that he had not decided what charge to bring against Herbert.

SMALL CATTLE SHIPMENTS MADE FROM PECOS SECTION

Pecos, Texas, Jan. 18.—Cattle shipments continue small, the usual first of the year shipments still prevailing in the Pecos district. Indications are, however, that a number of fair-sized sales and a general resumption of shipments will be made within the next week. Among the shipments of the past few days are the following: Collier & Love, one car of stock cattle to Hoban and by Marcus Snyder, a car of stock cattle from Riverton to Collier & Love at Hoban. J. M. Scanlan disposed of a shipment of horses in Sweetwater.

S. N. Lee is converting his "D" ranch into one of the best ranches in this section. He plans to raise only black polled cattle on it.

MIDLAND CATTLE ACTIVITY RESUMED AFTER DULL PERIOD

Midland, Texas, Jan. 18.—Following the usual holiday and after holidays, Midland cattlemen are again making sales and shipping out cattle and horses. Among the sales of the past week were two by C. C. Johnson, owner of the Texas Cattle Co., a C. C. Francis, Mr. Johnston sold 50 head of young stock horses and 50 high grade Hereford cows. Prices paid were not made public.

Two cars of steer yearlings, bought by J. P. Collins and Burton Brown, have been shipped to Hereford.

At the open door she came a frown of disapproval and then, with her face close to his, spoke hurriedly in a whisper.

"A man brought a girl here to lunch," she said. "They've been here before. The girl claims the man told her he was going to marry her. Last night she found out he has a wife already, and she came here today meaning to make trouble. She brought a gun."

Worry, Despondency.

Kidney Disease is supported by medical men when patients complain of backache or suffer with irregular urination, disturbed, too frequent, scanty or painful passage. The general symptoms are rheumatic pains or neuralgia, headaches, dizzy spells, irritability, despondency, weakness and general misery. Worry is a frequent cause and sometimes a symptom of kidney disease. Thousands have testified to immediate relief from these symptoms after using Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets.

Simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Anuric" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for blood and stomach.

It is a good insurance against such a risk to send 10 cents for a sample package of Dr. Pierce's. Also send a sample of your water. This will be examined without charge by expert chemists at Dr. Pierce's Lurline Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. When you suffer from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, it's time to write Dr. Pierce, describe your symptoms and get his medical opinion without charge—absolutely free. This "Anuric" of Doctor Pierce's is found to be 37 times more active than lithia, for it dissolves uric acid in the system as hot water does sugar.
